Weekly Round-up (Autumn Term 1 week 3)

This weeks highlight has been the opening of the new playpark on the field. The children and adults have enjoyed watching the park being built over the last few weeks so when it opened last Friday there was great excitement. We have visited the park every day this week and see it as a great extension to our provision. Whilst on the field we have collected conkers which have been brought back to preschool and used for lots of different open ended play including using them for some artwork by rolling them around in paint.

With the changing of the seasons it has given us a fantastic opportunity to talk about the world around us discussing what the different seasons look like and how nature and particularly the trees change around us. We have shared some lovely books which has sparked lots of curiosity from the children.

Playdough has been ever popular, today we have been chopping up herbs and mixing them in, enjoying the sensory experience. Lots of potion making has been happening outside and plenty of muddy play in the nature garden.

This time of year we love to share the things we have collected when we are out and about, there is so much autumnal treasure to find. If you find some treasure when you are out, coloured leaves, pine cones, acorns etc please feel free to send them into preschool.
