

Weekly Round-up (Spring Term week 3)

This week, despite the cold, we have dodged the rain showers and got out into the nature garden to play on the new giant tyre we have out there.

Tash and the children had a lovely time baking earlier in the week and made some really yummy fruit cookies. They smelt amazing!

Friday has got a new unofficial title as Laura's Baking Friday, as one of the children pointed out! So, Laura and the children made some cheesy star puffs to share with our friends and staff.

This week lots of the children have been playing with board games and completing floor puzzles. They are very skilled at them and work well with their friends to complete them. They have also loved building and taking apart the Mr Potato head.

There have been some amazing creations built with the indoor wooden blocks, working together to build them up, knock them down and build them up again!

The children have enjoyed lots of sensory play with all the coloured rice we made and with the playdough.

We have been focusing on a few different books this week. The Gruffalo and The Gruffalo's Child. Also, a some of the classic tales including The Gingerbread Man.

This weekend is RSPB Big Garden Bird Watching Weekend. Click HERE for more info. The children have been learning about birds and ticking off ones they have seen. They have been doing some beautiful colour by number pictures too.

Today we will be getting the big A Frame climbing equipment out so the children can work on their climbing and balance.

Finally, well done to Lily, Holly, Chloe, Amie and Clare for passing their Paediatric First Aid course on Saturday and renewing their training.
